SUMMARY OF THE PROJECT

The principal aims of the project "Written in Stone" are to build new relationships among young people in Europe, improve the attainment of young people, and focus on local history, castles and regional stories promoting different styles of teaching. This project will aim to make participants more interested in, and increase their knowledge about, local history and cultural heritage of the region.

The two-year project includes schools from Lithuania, Turkey, Romania, Italy, Spain and Czech Republic, and it is aimed at 10 pupils aged from 12 to 15-years-old. Pupils will be required to complete activities and tasks, and to present their findings in (Learning, Teaching and Training) meetings. Pupils will also be required to contribute to the project website, the eTwinning platform and present to peers over Skype in between meetings. Barr Beacon School's main contribution is to produce a newsletter on a termly basis with contributions from all participating schools.

Taking care of local history is well accepted in our societies, but in the day by day of our schools we may notice that our students, although they really know the region from different perspectives, they do not take this issue as a part of their everyday life. We think that, as much as we are preparing our students for their subsequent academic and professional life, it is also important to educate them on practical skills about culture in past times, local heritage, history of the surroundings and local literature.

Once the pupils become more aware of the beauties in their surroundings, they also automatically become conscious of their importance. This will have a definite impact on students' cultural capital which is at the forefront of what we are trying to promote here at Barr Beacon School.

The diagram illustrates the Erasmus+ project network. It features the Erasmus+ logo in the center, surrounded by the national flags of the participating countries: Turkey, Italy, Romania, Czech Republic, Spain, and United Kingdom. Arrows point from each flag towards the central Erasmus+ logo, indicating their involvement in the project.
